

Think It Over

by Bill Crews

You and I and the world around us could benefit greatly from — more love, and less hatred; more humility, and less arrogance; more faith, and less doubt; more hope, and less despair; more compassion, and less apathy; more patience, and less impatience; more steadfastness, and less wavering; more contentment, and less covetousness; more self-discipline, and less self-indulgence; more gentleness, and less harshness; more thankfulness, and less ingratitude; more good will and less bitterness; more virtue and less licentiousness; more trust and less anxiety; more knowledge and less ignorance; more wisdom and less foolishness; more conviction and less convenience; more principle and less policy; more honesty and less deceit; more godliness and less impiety.
