

“Sure, I’m A Christian!”

---

Selected

Well, no, I don’t go to Bible study much. I would have to get up an hour earlier and I like to sleep late on Sunday, you know. We don’t go much on Sunday nights either . . . to worship, that is. You see, after a little trip on Sunday, it’s hard to get back on time.

Wednesday nights? I’m always tired or have something to do. Others can go if they wish, but I really don’t feel that I miss too much by absenting myself on Wednesday night. We plan to get started to this and all services sometime.

Visit the sick? I’m not good at that anyway, and feel like somebody else that can do better ought to do it, besides it always depresses me. I guess I wasn’t “cut out” for that sort of work. If I have free time, I need relaxation.

No, I don’t get much time to read the Bible. As for giving, well, that is mighty hard to do these days, prices are so high and it takes so much to live on.

Heaven? Yes, I’m going. What do you think I’m faithful for? If it wasn’t for that, I wouldn’t be here most Sundays for the Lord’s supper. I think anybody that claims to be a Christian ought to at least be present for most Sundays for the Lord’s supper, at least, that is what I’ve always been taught. (And we wonder who did the teaching!)

— via Athens, Alabama bulletin

363701